Pleasing Entertainment.

Pleasing Entertainment.

The June musical of Miss Guigon's music classes, which was held at her music trooms, No. 408 East Franklin Street, Wednesday afternoon, marked the conclusion of the year's work of her young pupils, and was a most pleasing and successful entertainment.

The exercises consisted of vocal and instrumental selections, some very interesting examples of musical notation by the little folks, and concluded with the rendition of hair a dozen original compositions, which were most creditable.

After the delivery of a number of medals and prizes, and the presentation to Miss Guigen of a very dainty and appropriate testimonial from her publis, refreshments were served to the young people and their guests,

"The Watchman's Song" (Grieg, from Macbeth), Miss V. Archer Joynes; Waltz (Jenson), Miss Rosalle S. Valentine; "The Bark Canoe." Miss Emily Wade, Miss Mary B. Saunders, Mr. S. ### When Well-Known Richmond People Tell It So Plainly

When public endorsement is made by a representative citizen of Richmond the proof is positive. You must believe it. Read this testimony. Every backache sufferer, every man, woman or child with any kidney trouble will find profit in the reading.

W. D. Schlieff, policeman, No. 513% North Eighth Street, says: "As there are a great many residents of Richmond, who, like me, suffer from backache the attacks of which vary in duration and severity and who would give anything when these spelis are in the virulent stage to know what to use to get relief, let alone a cure, I unhesitatingly say, go to Owens & Minor's drug store for Doan's Kidney Pilis and take them as directed. It will stop dull aching in the small of the back under ordinary conditions and will gradually allay the pains due to the contraction of colds which seat themselves in the loins until that pain disappears."

POEMS YOU OUGHT TO KNOW

Whatever your occupation may be, and however crowded

your hours with affairs, do not fall to secure at least a few minutes every day for refreshment of your inner life with a bit of poetry.—Professor Charles Eliot Norton.

LEMAN.

The following stanzas are not connected in the poem, but are selected for their beauty. "The Battle of Waterloo" and "Childe Harold's Address to the Ocean," also from this poem, have already been printed. Other selections from Byron's poems, together with a sketch of his life, have been printed in this series.

"Leman" is Lake Geneva, the largest lake in Switzerland. "Jura is the name of a chain of mountains in eastern France and Western and Northern Switzerland. The Alps form the most extensive mountain system in Europe. They comprise a part of Southeastern France, most of Switzerland, a part of Northern Italy, a part of Southern Hungary and the western part of Austria-Hungary.

RE not the mountains, waves, and skies, a part Of me and of my soul, as I of them? Is not the love of these deep in my heart With a pure passion? Should I not contemn All objects, if compared with these? and stem A tide of suffering, rather than forego Such feelings for the hard and worldly phlegm Of those whose eyes are only turned below, Gazing upon the ground, with thoughts which dare not glow?

Torn ocean's roar, but thy soft murmuring Sounds sweet, as if a sister's voice reproved That I with stern delights should e'er have been so moved. It is the hush of night, and all between Thy margin and the mountains, dusk, yet clear, Mellowed and mingling, yet distinctly seen, Save darkened Jura, whose capt heights appear Precipitously steep: and, drawing near, There breathes a living fragrance from the shore,

Of flowers yet fresh with childhood; on the ear

Drops the light drip of the suspended oar,

Or chirps the grasshopper good-night carol more.

Clear, placid Leman! thy contrasted lake,

With the wild world I dwelt in, is a thing

To waft me from distraction; once I loved

This quiet sail is as a noiseless wing

Which warns me, with its stillness, to forsake Earth's troubled waters for a purer spring.

Ye stars! which are the poetry of heaven, If in your bright leaves we would read the fate Of men and empires,-'tis to be forgiven That in our aspirations to be great, Our destinies o'erleap their mortal state. And claim a kindred with you; for ye are A beauty, and a mystery, and create In us such love and reverence from afar, That fortune, fame, power, life, have named themselves a star.
